CHALLENGE CONTINUES!

THIS MONTH'S FOCUS: T'SHUVA (WEEK #2)

A Note from our Youth Director, Morah Rachel

What a whirlwind of a week!

Kids, how was your first week back to school? Parents, how was the first week back to reality for you?

I'm guessing I may get two very distinct responses with two completely different tones from the kids and the parents! Then the special few among us who are parents AND work in the school system. . . pure ambivalence! It was a week filled with New Schedules, New People, New Expectations. . . New Everything! Any way you slice it, this past week was filled with CHANGE. As we continue to look at T'shuva / Change in groups this week, we will focus our thoughts on change within oneself. (Next week we will focus on change in relation to others and the following week, right as the Chagim come to a close, we will focus on change in our relationship with Hashem.) So, I challenge you: Check out your child's #TheGreatMiddahChallenge card this week. This weekly challenge related to the Middah of Focus each month can bring a spark of Shabbos to your home in the midst of what may be (speaking only from experience) the-mundane-or-chaotic-moments-of-day-to-day-life.

Bring a focus on middot to your dinner table, your drive to school, your bed-time routine. A few minutes a day can help bring that element of calm we find in Shabbos to each and every day, even if its just for a few moments.

Ask your child to see his or her Middah Challenge Card and get in on the competition! The stakes are high, and the prizes are in the kids' hands!

Kids: As always, I am here for you. Have a challenge that's bugging you? In school? Shul? Home? Somewhere else? Know that I am here for you and just an e-mail away!

E-mail me at youth@nertamid.net or FB message me to get in touch!

Have a fantastic week. May it be filled with only positive changes and may we all be inscribed in the book of life for a year of health, happiness and all the good stuff!

Rachel Shar, Ner Tamid Youth Director
